

Ireland Calls New Rabbi

Offers Post to Soloveitchick, of Boston Congregation

BOSTON, May 10 (P).—Rabbi Joseph B. Soloveitchick, of the Association of Hebrew Congregations in the Roxbury, Dorchester and West End districts of Boston, tonight said he had been offered the post as Chief Rabbi of Ireland.

He said there were 5,500 Jews in Ireland, the majority of them in Dublin, and added that while he was considering the offer, he didn't "feel like leaving the United States." The position in Ireland was recently vacated by Rabbi Isaac Herzog, who left to assume a similar post in Palestine, Rabbi Soloveitchick said.
